I want to know more!

How do we do LiveOps?

Each multidisciplinary team has professionals developing new processes to deliver content and features faster and better!

Artists create concept art, assets, renders, rigs and animation for stunning visuals.

Game designers and product managers use analytics to create engaging events and customized sales for all cohorts of Users.

Our engineers work both in frontend and backend to ensure technical performance while minimizing infrastructure costs, adapting swiftly to any framework or tech stack.

Our quality assurance team defines and runs test plans to ensure no issues through rigorous testing.

And our community management team will keep your audience engaged and heard.

That's cool but

What is LiveOps?

Live Operations is the ongoing management of a live application after its launch, focusing on continuously engaging users by improving the experience with continuous content updates, events, new features and community interactions.

Company description

The LiveOps Guild is a Chilean company that helps gaming studios run live games smoothly. We handle updates, events, sales, and new content with no downtime or bugs, offering 24/7 support. Our team adapts quickly to project needs and builds custom tools to speed up content delivery while ensuring security and compliance.
